

Gender Issues for Land Registration and Professional Qualification

Gerda SCHENNACH, Austria

Key words: Access to land, Capacity building, Education, e-Governance, Land management, Professional practice

SUMMARY

Gender issues are in many cases still not included into neither land administration processes nor in recruiting processes for professionals. Especially if gender issues are touched in land administration, it might be helpful to involve more female professionals. In many European country females still need to be encouraged to enter the profession.
