INTRODUCTION

The potential of the professional association in the reading of the landscape
A reading of the Tuscan landscape
The complex St.M.Assunta di Rapolano Terme (SI)
Historical notes
The works
The complex St.M. Assunta in the heart of the village of Rapolano Terme “Breccia Plaster” an identifying element of a landscape of the Sienese territory.

Dott. Ing. J Geom. Emanuele Bossini

Rome May 2012

WORKS DESCRIPTION

General considerations
Detailed considerations
Recognizing the identity of the medium
The west front before restoration

The historic center seen from the “travertine strata” landscape
The historic center seen from the "travertine strata" landscape

Photos before restoration
Details of the facade before restoration
LANDSCAPE IDENTITY RESOURCES

“Breccia Plaster” an identifying element of
A landscape of the Sienese territory

Dott. Ing./J Geom. Emanuele Bossini

-RECOGNIZING THE LANDSCAPE IDENTITY RESOURCES

Breccia Plaster an identifying element
A badly altered historic urban center
The quarries of breccia
Rapolano landscapes

Conclusions

Rome May 2012